(Continued from page 2.) cannot make fish of one and fowl of the other, when it comes to the cafe business. You can blame Governor Carter for starting that business off."

Mr. Sullivan said he had the same opinion of the matter as Mr. Dee. He favored high license restricted to voters.

P. F. Ryan said he favored the thousand dollar license. "I was opposed to this cafe business in connection with the saloon business, but I was losing my trade under the present law and I had to open up one to save myself."

"When I came to this country there were few saloons and they were all conducted by citizens of the country and they could not be better run than they were."

"In regard to these $1000 licenses, I am heartily in favor of them, providing they are restricted to citizens, but if they are to be issued to every Tom, Dick and Harry, I am not. We are not making any money now. Some of us will have to get out of the business and turn it over to the Asiatics."

Mr. Spencer said that Mr. Ryan had expressed his sentiments exactly.

Mr. Ryan arose once more to add that in the case of licenses being made one thousand dollars, if the issuance of the licenses was not restricted by law to citizens, the Asiatics will get in anyhow. As many as a dozen Asiatics will form a hui and start a business. Even if it was a $2000 license they would form a hui and start.

Mr. Thompson said his views were similar to those already presented. He preferred high license with the exemption of Asiatics.

Major Camara said his views were on the lines already suggested. "In regard to the cafe business," he said; "I was the pioneer in the proposition under the new law for the reason that the Union Grill had been granted a license. The Grill had been selling liquor for years anyhow. So, the law allowing us to sell liquor with meals, I went to work and fitted up a place at considerable expense, probably as good as the Grill itself. I don't think the law should be changed in this respect. I don't want to lose any more money, but I am in favor of high license. Raise the license back to $1000 as it was before."

"As for business, why, the community wants more now that prices are down, than before. A man wants an egg for fifteen cents that costs thirty cents to make."

Fred Kiley believed in the thousand dollar license. "As to the cafe feature," he said "I went into that to save myself on account of the competition we're having."

Harry Juen favored high license. "It makes no difference whether I remain in the business or not," said he, "I am also in favor of a law to be passed by the next legislature if possible to the effect that none but citizens may obtain licenses. I believe that the liquor men who are interested in this matter should make the effort to pledge candidates for the next legislature to revise the law in accordance with the views of the retail men. This small license fee has simply prostituted the business."

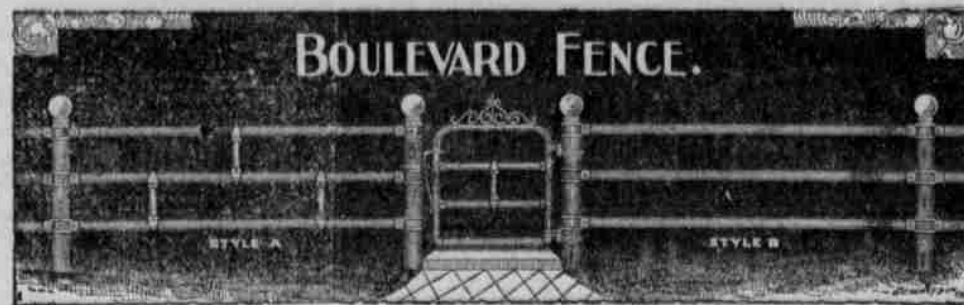

"I will show you what it has done: It has been the means of opening up saloons where liquors are adulterated, and it has caused others to hire cappers to bring in trade, and has caused the introduction in saloons of what was formerly not allowed—music. In fact, the business is demoralized."

"There is no doubt that the high license put it in the hands of a better element. There are people in the business now who have no more regard for decency in their places than a yellow dog."

"Now as to prices: A Chinaman about opposite my place has a saloon. He has no sign out. You might stand within fifty feet of the place and not know about the place. He has a license, though, and he sells a glass of wine for five cents, a good deal larger glass than we could possibly sell for ten cents. He has no additional rent to pay because he has a store there already and by the same reasoning he has no more lights to pay for, and he has no fancy help to pay wages to. It is impossible for white men to compete with these people."

Mr. Dee at this time arose to say that he knew that licenses obtained by applicants were resold to other people to whom possibly the Treasurer would not issue a license. He thought this a matter to be investigated.

Mr. Walters moved that a committee be appointed to revise the old law and amend it in a suitable manner for presentation to the legislature. He said that the earlier this work was taken up the better. He said he fully believed that if the liquor men had been in the field earlier at the last session of the legislature, their bill might have gone through.

Some jocular remarks were made concerning Pastor Edwards of the Christian church, who had, in a recent address at Kawaiahaeo church, said the saloonkeepers were as bad as thieves, robbers and gamblers.

Mr. Dee said that Mr. Edwards claimed to be from Missouri. "Well," said the doctory Larry, "if I had the money I would make him show me that he was from Missouri and compel him to contradict what he said. I think that Pastor Edwards used the strongest language of any man of his cloth I have ever heard, and I have listened to many fiery prohibitionists. I hold that the liquor business is as honorable as the drug business."

Col. McCarthy will appoint the special committee in a few days.—Advertiser.

An Announcement Luncheon.

A delightful luncheon was given by Mrs. W. O. Aiken on the 19th inst., at Puuomalei, Makawao. Covers were laid for ten and a most enjoyable time was had by those present.

The table, which was set on the lanai, overlooking the magnificent view to the ocean, was beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns and was resplendent with cut glass and silver, while at each plate was a water color painting of the young lady who was to occupy the particular place. All decorations were heartily served and those present felt as though they were attending some social function at Newport or Ascot, so perfect were the appointments and the service.

During the luncheon, Mrs. Aiken, in a few well chosen words, announced the engagement of Miss Eva Smith of Hamakua, to E. O. Borne, late of San Francisco, and now manager of one of Wailuku's leading stores.

Miss Smith received the best wishes of those attending, and the only regret expressed was that Mr. Borne could not have been present, (owing to the affair being strictly for ladies) to receive the congratulations for having won so popular a Maui belle.

After luncheon, the guests adjourned to the drawing room where coffee was served, and the afternoon was spent in playing Hearts.

Those invited to be present were: Mrs. W. O. Aiken, Mrs. Frederick W. Hardy, the Misses Nellie, Eva and Ethel Smith, Miss Olive Steele, Mary Fleming, Irene Crook and Helen Wrenn.

UP COUNTRY NOTES.

A very pleasant informal party was given at the Puuomalei Club House on Saturday evening last. About seventy were present from Puuomalei, Spreckelsville and Kahului. A train was run from Kahului for the accommodation of the people there. The evening was spent in dancing and cards and altogether it was an enjoyable evening. Light refreshments were served at eleven. This is the first affair of this kind that has been given at Puuomalei for some time and we hope there will be many more. The credit of getting up the party is largely due to the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mayfield.

A large field of ripe cane belonging to the H. C. & S. Co. near the Pala division took fire on Tuesday afternoon and burned over about eighty acres before it could be got under control.

Miss Geisendorfer of San Francisco has accepted a position as trained nurse at the Puuomalei Hospital.

The new tennis courts at Puuomalei are in splendid condition now and will be used for the annual tournament this year. The tournament promises to be a lively one this year as there are many more players on Maui.

The Pala Social Club held their regular monthly dance at the usual place last Saturday evening.

A jolly good time was enjoyed by all present.

Outside of the Club members, there were present quite a few guests from Wailuku and Kahului.

The committee is to be complimented upon having such unusual good refreshments for the occasion.
